New Mexico Jewish Historical Society

New Mexico has long welcomed Jewish residents, from the German-born adventurers and merchants in the 1800s when New Mexico was still a U.S. Territory to the doctors, scientists, professors, lawyers, accountants, and artists of more recent times. Although only a small percentage of the overall population of New Mexico, Jewish residents have played an important role in its history. Jewish history in New Mexico started centuries ago when it was a territory of Spain.

Sephardic History from Spain to New Mexico

NMJHS FALL CONFERENCE

CONFERENCE HIGHLIGHTS

What does Sephardic history have to do with New Mexico? Quite a bit, as it turns out. At this conference speakers will explore the riches of Jewish Spain before 1492, its history, music, art, and philosophy, and talk about several prominent Jewish families.

After the expulsion over one hundred thousand Jews left Spain for Italy, Turkey, and North Africa. Some eventually made the trek north along the Rio Grande into New Mexico and southern Colorado, which is the focus of the second part of the program.

The conference begins at 12 noon on Saturday with lunch and concludes at 1 p.m. on Sunday. Saturday sessions end at 5. Cocktail hour at 6, dinner at 7. Sunday sessions go from 9 to 1.

In addition to talks on Saturday afternoon and Sunday morning attendees will have the opportunity to view the film "The Last Sephardic Jew" after dinner Saturday evening. The registration fee includes all talks, the film, two meals, a cocktail hour, book sale, and silent auction.
