BLESS-COLMAN NUPHTIALS

MRS. FANNIE COLMAN requests the honor of your presence at the marriage of her daughter LILIAN to MR. SAMUEL BLESS Wednesday evening, the eighth of August, nineteen hundred and six, CASTANEDA HOTEL, Las Vegas, New Mexico, Ceremony at seven thirty p. m.

This is the first invitation to the Bless-Colman wedding which was issued some time ago. It will be a family wedding only, with the exception that a few invitations have been sent to some very intimate and warm Christian friends.

Dr. B. A. Bonheim will be the officiating rabbi. Mr. Samuel Bless was born in Amsterdam, Holland, thirty-two years ago, but emigrated to the United States when quite young. He is a diamond cutter by trade and his extraordinary skill in that branch of business has secured for him the patronage of the largest jewelry houses in the city of New York. In consequence of which fact he commands a very liberal salary. Mr. Bless is highly cultured and educated young man, and is, with all that, very modest and unassuming in his ways and manners. It is said by his economical mode of living he has saved quite a small fortune.

Miss Lilian, the bride, is well known among her friends. She visited the public schools and later on the Normal school under the efficient president, Edgar L. Hewett, where she became very proficient in all the various branches. During this time she practiced music and drawing in which two branches she had reached an enviable degree of perfection. After she left school she took private lessons from Dr. Bonheim in German literature, in which she took great delight and became very proficient, so that she is now fully enabled to converse in and read and write three different languages, i.e., English, Spanish and German. Miss Lily, as she is called by her friends, is in every respect a well accomplished young lady, and The Optic joins her many friends in wishing Mr. and Mrs. Bless a most hearty "Mazel Tov."

Mr. and Mrs. Samuel Bless, who were married last night at the Castaneda hotel, departed this morning by way of El Paso on the flyer on their wedding tour. They will spend most of their honeymoon in Old Mexico, returning to Las Vegas after a visit there of several weeks. From here they will depart for New York.

Mrs. Well bore her sorrows with great fortitude and came peacefully to a sudden death. She was one of eight children born in Durango, Colo., of parents in 1855. She resided with her parents until her marriage to Samuel H. Bowman, a Bowman's death she married and moved to Pueblo, Col. in 1897, when she moved to C. M. She had been in Pueblo past six weeks for medical care. She is survived by her husband, Nathan Weil, sons: Joseph B. Bowman of Santa Fe, N. M., and Isadore Bowman of Bernnhallo, and Joseph S. Bowman of Texas, also a daughter, Mrs. Bernheim of Pueblo. The body was brought to Las Vegas, N. M., for burial following services held yesterday afternoon at 3 o'clock at the mortuary.

Formerly Tucsonite Takes Up Residence at Las Vegas, New Mexico.

Everybody in Tucson remembers Major Neustatter—many of the desert waggled their tails when he assed and the children all knew him. Well, the Major has gone and done it. It will be remembered that he left here several months ago, after having acted a chief deputy for Marshal Reade for a considerable length of time, to accept a similar position in New Mexico. Little was heard of the Major after his departure from Tucson. He managed to keep himself before the public in the sister territory, however, and his name not infrequently adorned the pages of papers at Santa Fe and Las Vegas. A short while ago, when the strike situation was at its worst in New Mexico, the Major was given an excellent opportunity to display his bravery. He came up to the Badger, had been appointed an aide-de-camp on the Governor's staff. He was not satisfied with all this glory. Read the following, taken from the Las Vegas Optic:

"Major Neustatter, deputy United States marshal, who has just been appointed an aide-de-camp on the Governor's staff, with the rank of major, over in Santa Fe, has claimed his bide in the person of Miss Clara Straus, sister of Mrs. Joseph Colman. The ceremony was performed by Judge H. S. Wooster, at the old 'Zander residence.' At 3 o'clock last evening, in the presence of immediate members of the family only. Refreshments were served, and the presents consisted chiefly of checks from relatives of the bride. Tucson takes off its summer hat to the Major."
